

Since February 2022, the Singapore Red Cross has been supporting communities affected by the conflict in Ukraine.

Working closely with the Ukrainian Red Cross, the Red Cross Movement and other partners, we have delivered targeted assistance to vulnerable persons and communities, including children and youth, women with infants and young children, the elderly, patients with rare diseases and persons with disabilities. Besides the provision of relief aid, we are also focused on addressing basic needs, emergency shelter, protection, health, water, sanitation, hygiene, psychosocial support, and more recently, the need for warmth as winter sets in.

Encouragingly, we have witnessed an outpouring of support from the people of Singapore for this humanitarian response. We are thankful for the generosity of our donor partners, and are heartened by the efforts of community fundraisers.

Asian Art Association organised the "World Charity Painting Competition" with the theme of "Love and Peace" and made a donation to the Singapore Red Cross, in support of the Ukraine Humanitarian Crisis Response. I thank Mr Jay Chau, Chairman of Asian Art Association, and all the other participants, for your warm support to this critical humanitarian operation in response to one of the fastest-growing humanitarian crises in the world.

The Singapore Red Cross is a homegrown humanitarian organisation, and we serve the most vulnerable in Singapore and beyond our shores. We seek your continued support for our humanitarian causes and resilience initiatives.

As we like to say, "Lend a Hand for Humanity" (RedCross.sg).

Thank you.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Benjamin William'. The signature is stylized and fluid.

Benjamin William
CEO